DAVIDSON COLLEGE

Quips and Cranks
1945

A faint, light green line drawing of a bird in flight, positioned on the right side of the page. The bird's wings are spread, and its tail is visible. The drawing is minimalist, using only outlines.

From Days Gone By ..

HIS is Davidson 1945. Another QUIPS AND CRANKS and another milestone in the passing years. Here we mark the progress and record the history of the events that have gone into the making of this year.

May we never forget the life that we have known here, for this is the Davidson that we have come to love, the Davidson that will live in our memories. These are the phases of our life here: the academic, the social, the athletic, each with its place and its purpose, each with its own peculiar ability to become a part of our world of knowledge and memory.

This is a record of college life in the crucial years of a great war. Deep inroads have been made on the normal course of activities. Despite this, however, the life of the college has gone forward with no lack of determination. The Davidson spirit is alive as ever.

In the world outside our gates there has been the violence of conflict. Our lives have been shaken by it, and our attitudes have been reshaped. We have taken a part of the tradition from years gone by, a sense of permanence and security. With this has been mingled the spirit of the battles of today. With these in our grasp, we can look to future years, to the world that we shall build tomorrow.

Davidson becomes a part of us, integrated into the structure of our lives. We can never forget our experiences here because for the most of us they were the years of change from youth to manhood. We have linked them to our past and build upon them for the future.

SENIORS OF '45

Seniors 1945 but hardly a class. Three classes rather, January, May and August each with its graduation. Many were the beginnings of this class, which has now reached the end of its days at Davidson. Some men finished in the normal course; some finished after periods of absence from the college; others took advantage of the speed-up program; such is the history of the class of '45.

Its men have taken up where others left off. These are the few left from the many who began with them. But such is war.

Its "men-of-the-year" are few in comparison to other years. Apperson, President; Fisher, Freshman adviser and second semester Pan-Hellenic President; Drake, promoter of the Annual; Hollinger, the sole Phi Beta Kappa; Blain, second semester Editor of The Davidsonian; others in lesser offices each doing his part as a member of this Class of '45.

C A M P U S

O Is for Overcash she's
Known to all as just "Dennie,"
So full of pep and dash she's
Cute, she's chic, and so teenie!

M Is for McGill Louise is Capable, generous, and wise.
She's known among the students
For her beautiful eyes.

M Is also for McLelland,
She claims that she "never flirts":
(But if you lunch at Copeland's,
Boys, you might get two desserts!)

A Is for adorable Ann.
She's our Campus Beauty Queen:
She's friendly, attractive, and
A Junior at seventeen!

N Is for our own dear Nancy,
Pretty, clever, but crazy!
A girl that fellows fancy
When tearing up a daisy.

D Is for Davis and Donnie:
These co-eds are simply swell!
Both girls are sweet and bonnie
As the students all can tell.

O Is for other co-eds
That perhaps one day we'll see
On the Davidson campus.
How wonderful that would be!

S Is for seven lucky girls:
At home yet gaining knowledge.
Each day more to us un-furls
We like Davidson College!

ACTIVITIES

STUDENT

One of the most valuable traditions at Davidson is the Student Government. This is organized with a president, elected by the student body, with a council composed of the presidents of the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes. In addition to the council, representatives are elected from each class to serve on the council.

OWENS, President

GOVERNMENT

The duties of this student organization are to enforce the Constitution and laws of the student body and to promote the spirit and good will of the school. The most cherished aspect of this traditional part of Davidson life is the Honor System, which has proved invaluable in maintaining the high ideals of the school.

The Student Council elects a Court of Control, the body which oversees the Freshman class. Its duty is concerned with matters of discipline among the freshmen, except for those cases serious enough to be referred to the Student Council.

ALEXANDER, President

Through the years the Y. M. C. A. has maintained an outstanding position in the life of the campus. Its influence in social and religious life is wide. The campus looks to the Y for leadership and guidance in many affairs.

During the past year the work of the Y has been particularly important. Many of the campus activities have been greatly reduced due to a smaller student body. The concerted opinion was, however, that it was essential for Y work to be carried on in the manner which it has always been.

This has been done most efficiently by Jim Alexander, president, and Professor F. K. Fleagle, faculty adviser, with much help from Dr. Carl Pritchett. Assisting the president as usual has been the Cabinet.

The Board of Control is the executive body of the Y. M. C. A. It is composed of the following men: Mr. F. L. Jackson, Dr. J. R. Cunningham, Dr. L. B. Schenck, Prof. F. K. Fleagle, Dr. C. R. Pritchett, J. P. Alexander, K. M. Waters, H. N. Spencer, B. H. Fisher, W. A. Wier, and G. M. Apperson.

CONCERT BAND

Davidson was one of the few men's colleges in war-time America to keep active all of its usual musical enterprises. In large measure this was to be attributed to the assiduity and energy of Mr. James Christian Pfohl, director of the music department, and of Mr. Earl F. Berg, director of the Glee Club. All of the organizations had fewer members, but in a way this was a positive gain, on the score of resultant improvement in the musicianship of the individual.

R. O. T. C. BAND

The Symphonic Band of 1944-45 had about 25 players of high caliber, in an ensemble of balance and clarity. The group have a formal concert on December 1. Another such concert was planned for March, to be followed in April by the annual Spring tour. Band officers were R. E. Hollinger, J. F. West, R. E. Plaster, and H. G. Wyatt.

EARL BERG

MUSIC

The Glee Club took part in musical events which have become traditional for December—the Christmas Vespers and the Messiah. During the year they lent faithful aid to college vesper services. After the tour to be taken with the band, the Glee Club gave a performance of The Mikado of Gilbert and Sullivan, aided by the Davidson-Queens Symphony Orchestra.

GLEE CLUB

This Orchestra, formed of Davidson men and Queens girls, also did its part in the Christmas music. A formal concert was presented at Queens, March 9 and at Davidson, March 11.

LOVE, Editor (First Semester)

The Davidsonian is the official college newspaper, appearing twice monthly during the year. It is a record of events in the contemporary life at Davidson. Its pages are devoted to the varied items of news about students and faculty. There are editorials, sports news of campus organizations, fraternities, and feature columns.

As have all things The Davidsonian has felt the war in several ways. The staff has been reduced from the usual number because of the small student body. There has also been a considerable reduction in the amount of advertising. Despite these things the paper has carried on with determination.

DAVIDSONIAN

The work of the paper is divided between two staffs. In the Editorial department the Editor and his assistants make up the copy for the printer out of the news that has been gathered. The Business staff has the job of securing advertisements and handling the financial details.

For the first semester Jim Love was editor. Upon his leaving, his duties were taken over by Sonny Blain. Jim Alexander has been Business Manager for the entire year.

In the past The Davidsonian has been a leader among college papers, always receiving a high rating from the Associated Collegiate Press. The Editors of this year, as those of past years, deserve high praise for the excellent work they have done.

This is the yearbook of the Senior Class. It is an attempt to take a representative cross-section of life at Davidson and preserve it in a form in which it may serve as an enduring reminder of college life.

The fact that there was no annual for last year only increased our determination not to allow this year to pass without one.

This is a summary of life as one finds it here, formal and informal. Like all things it has felt the effects of the war. But like all things with solid foundations it stands the affronts of the times with a firmness born of age and character.

APPERSON, Associate Editor

The college, faculty, administration, students, fraternities, sports, in fact all phases of life are incorporated into this volume. It is a record of experience, of growth, of achievement.

We sincerely hope that this will not be a mere picture-book but a part of Davidson itself, its life and spirit, preserved especially for you in this 1945 QUIPS AND CRANKS.

ARMY SPECIALIZED TRAINING RESERVE

On June 1, 1944, Service Command Unit 3420 of the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program was formed at Davidson College. By June 10, the unit had received its quota of two hundred twenty men.

All men in the unit were seventeen years old and high school graduates. They had previously been accepted in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve and were placed in the A. S. T. R. P. unit after having passed certain qualifying tests.

The government planned to continue their education, until they reached their eighteenth birthdays, so as to fit them better for future duty in the Army. Consequently, various academic programs were set up here at Davidson for them. Terms lasting for twelve weeks consisted of twenty-five class hours per week. The academic subjects studied were English, physics, mathematics, history, geography, chemistry and military science.

The unit also underwent extensive physical training programs, attending regular physical education classes six hours a week. An A. S. T. R. P. basketball team was organized and it twice played against the college team.

The staff officers consisted of Major E. E. Marsh, Commandant; Captain W. F. Crocker, Assistant Commandant; First Lieutenant L. K. Ward, Supply Officer, and First Lieutenant L. Fruchter, Adjutant. The non-commissioned officers were S/Sgt. McGuinness; T/Sgt. Spearman; T/Sgt. Burton; Sgt. Reilly; Sgt. Hoose; and Sgt. Thom.

The unit had its own company fund which sponsored various social activities. Highlight of the social functions was a formal dance held in October.

After two complete terms or six months of college work, the men had completed their academic training and were sent to North Georgia State College and to Auburn Polytechnic Institute for further work. Davidson's A. S. T. R. P. unit was officially closed the second of December, 1944.

FOOTBALL

Facing Coach Shepard in the fall of '44 was the problem of a football team. Undoubtedly, due to the war, there was no possibility of a collegiate class team. The question was whether to have a team that would play high schools and preparatory schools or no team at all. When the former was decided upon Assistant Coach Phil Hudson came to help in getting things started.

When the first game came up there was some doubt as to how we would fare with a heavier team. However we were able to tie Woodberry Forest 6-6.

In these first days the prospects were bright with players like Pell and Coverington as ends; Myatt and Strickland, tackles; Monroe and Dunbar, guards; Hay, center; and in the backfield were Bryant, Hagan, Patterson, and Edwards.

DAVE JOHNSON, Captain

Soon, however, it was a different story. Many of the best players left for the armed services. Into the line-up came Johnson and Manget, guards: Lasley, Barringer, Keesler, Neill, and Sherrill, backfield: Herion at center.

Among the interesting and successful games of the season was the exciting night game with Harding in Charlotte which ended 14-13 in our favor. The game with Mooresville in which the score was 33-0 in favor of Davidson and the game with Darlington, a highly rated team, ended 13-7 in our favor, were the high points of interest during the season.

BASKETBALL

Middle row: Lasley, Nelson, Smith, Wall, Scarborough, Furman, McLean and O'Briant. Back

COACH N. W. SHEPARD

The season opened with Lowry, the only returning letterman and captain, as forward teamed up with Edwards; Berry as center; and Bryant and O'Briant as guards. These men played only seven games together before the semester ended. Edwards, Lowry, and Bryant left, and Coach Shepard had to reorganize the team.

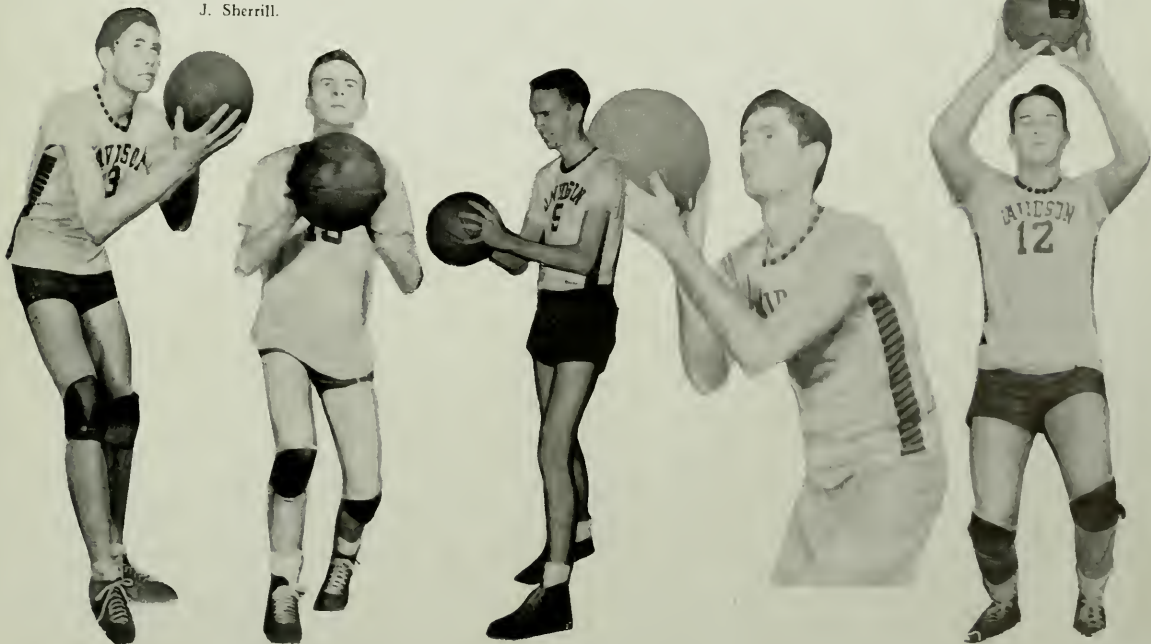

Owens added some scoring punch for a while, but he was unable to continue for the entire season. Scarborough and Neill as guards; Berry as center, together with Wall and O'Briant composed the team which played most of the season. These men, as well as Blackburn and Etheridge, were lettermen. The other three men on the second team were Sherrill, Keesler, and Simpson.

Burlington looks ahead

“WHERE DO WE go from Victory?”

That's what Burlington Mills men and women are asking themselves . . . and their Company. They know the war hasn't been won by a long shot . . . but they know, too, that if a high level of employment is to be maintained in the postwar period, plans must be laid now.

Here is their answer . . . your answer. And it's backed up by all the foresight and sureness of planning at Burlington Mills command—the same kind of preparedness that helped a single plant in a single community grow to 44 separate plants in 31 separate communities in 20 years' time.

Our place in the postwar world will be more important than ever. When peace comes we will be in a position to shift over to all-out civilian production immediately.

We're trying to make sure of that today! Our research laboratories, technicians and supervisory staffs are constantly on the job . . . developing important peacetime uses for the new fabrics, processes and textile machines that have been perfected under the pressure of war.

America's postwar demands for finer quality fabrics . . . for superior clothing and home furnishings . . . will find its answer right in these mills. More important, an ever-increasing demand will result in increased production . . . will mean bigger and better jobs for those now serving their country on the battle fronts as well as for those who are now serving on this production front. The future of these men and women is that of Burlington Mills itself. For they are Burlington Mills. They, too, can look ahead . . . can face the future with confidence and security.
